Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 1 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136 (a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Art Unit:

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. § 121:

I. Claims 1-7, drawn to an anti-HIV therapeutic method employing various reverse transcriptase inhibitors, protease inhibitors and Integrase inhibitors administered concomitantly.

II. Claims 8-14, drawn to anti-HIV therapeutic compositions employing various reverse transcriptase inhibitors, protease inhibitors and Integrase inhibitors administered concomitantly.

III. Claim 15, drawn to various anti-HIV therapeutic Integrase inhibitor compounds.

IV. Claims 16-23, drawn to anti-HIV therapeutic compounds possessing a C₂-C₆ carbon chain backbone.

Claims contained in Groups I-IV are directed to a plurality of patentably distinct inventive species. Applicants are required under 37 CFR 1.499 to elect a distinct inventive species from the selected group for examination on the merits. Additionally, Applicants are required to provide a claim directed to this inventive species, or identify a claim directed to this elected species, even though the requirement is traversed.

The above delineated inventions differ as distinct therapeutic methods, therapeutic compositions, and therapeutic compounds. The grouped inventions are patentably distinct, a reference which would anticipate, or make obvious, any invention from groups I-IV would not necessarily obviate, or anticipate, the inventions in any other group. The searches are not co-inclusive as indicated by the diverse nature of the subject matter. Those proposed inventions recited herein are only linked by the presented specification; with each invention requiring separate, distinct search, and consideration. One skilled in the art would readily practice the invention of one of the above groups with out infringing and/or practicing the invention of another group. The subject matter is unique and has acquired a separate status in the art and is fully capable of supporting separate patents. For the foregoing reasons restriction is proper for examination purposes.

The instant application was filed under 35 USC 371, requiring restriction by unity of invention. The authority for this restriction practice is found in 37 CFR 1.499. To restrict a case filed under 35 USC 371, the Examiner need not consider the burden posed by examining additional inventions; although such burden is present in the instant case.

Patent Cooperation Rules (PCT) Rules 13.1 and 13.2 permit in a single application only one invention. Thus, an application presenting more than one invention, as in the instant case, is appropriately restricted for lack of unity.

The grouped inventions are patentably distinct, a reference which would anticipate, or make obvious, any invention from groups I-V would not necessarily obviate, or anticipate, the inventions in any other group. The searches are not co-inclusive as indicated by the diverse nature of the subject matter, thus, would represent an undue burden on Examiner. One skilled in the art would readily practice the invention of one of the above groups with out infringing and or practicing the invention of another group. The subject matter is unique and has acquired a separate status in the art and is fully capable of supporting separate patents. For the foregoing reasons restriction is proper for examination purposes.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variations or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if Examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence may be used in a rejection under 35 USC 103 of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to Russell Travers at telephone number (703) 308-4603.
